By better targeting discount coupons, Cdiscount has multiplied the ROI of its promotional campaign by a factor of 3.

By offering a personalized experience, Cdiscount has improved performance for all its main KPIs:

- Significant rise in revenues: targeted campaigns generate on average 50% more revenue than traditional ones.
- Increased profitability: by targeting users according to their purchase intent, Cdiscount makes better use of coupons, offering them only when it's relevant. Profitability (ROI) is two to three times higher than for campaigns without targeting.
- Better orchestration of sales campaigns: thanks to Kameleoon's real-time analysis of all clickstream data, Cdiscount gains a deeper understanding of its customers, identifying each of their interests and intents. That helps Cdiscount offer coupons that best fit its customers' future needs.
- Improved customer experience: too much marketing pressure is one of the main reasons for users to leave a website. By showing offers only to relevant user groups, Cdiscount creates a coherent experience throughout the customer journey, encouraging customer loyalty.

Story of Kameleoon Premium Customer Service

“Users encountered a lot of friction and didn't get as far as payment when moving through the booking funnel. Contentsquare enabled us to understand the obstacles and quickly formulate hypotheses and A/B tests. Kameleoon helped us reorganize the form fields. We've increased access to the 'payment' page as well as our revenue.”

Florianne NOLLET,
UX Designer & Digital Project Manager

“With Kameleoon, we can very quickly make changes to our website as soon as we identify an optimization with high added value.”

These quick-win optimizations enable us to considerably improve the visitor experience and, consequently, our overall conversion rate.

François Duprat, Head of Product

Rakuten

“Until now, we carried out manual scoring of our visitors to determine the quality of the leads we then sent to our dealers. Kameleoon's AI outperforms this manual scoring by targeting visitors precisely according to their interest in particular models and also saves us a lot of time.”
